Biography

James Malone Rentschler was born in 1933 in Rochester, Minnesota. In 1954 he received a certificate from the University of Paris and graduated from Yale University in 1955. In 1959, Rentschler joined the United States Foreign Service and worked in multiple countries including Brazil, Italy, Morocco France and Romania He was also posted at the US NATO headquarters in Brussels.

In 1978, Rentschler became a senior staff member and Director of West European Affairs on the National Security Council working in the Carter Administration. He was retained in this function for the Reagan Administration.

In 1982, Reagan appointed Rentschler Ambassador to Malta where he remained until April 1985. He was appointed Ambassador to Guinea in 1986 but later the nomination was withdrawn. While serving in Malta, he was asked to head the Summit Public Diplomacy Inter-Agency Team.

Scope & Content Note

The old Office of Political Affairs within the National Security Council included specific Offices with the responsibility for various geographic regions. Under the Office of Political Affairs, James Rentschler was the Director of the Western Europe Office. In 1983, these regional responsibilities were later revised and elevated to directorates in a rough approximation of the Department of State regional organizations. Rentschler's position would correspond to the European and Soviet Affairs Directorate in the new system.

The collection is arranged into three series. The series are: SERIES I: Subject File, SERIES II: Trip File, SERIES III: Visit File

In addition, Rentschler created chronological material for this time period. This material was intermingled with Dennis Blair chronological material. The Rentschler chronological material is now part of the Office of Political Affairs collection. Please see that collection for the 1981 chronological files of James Rentschler.
